

Instructions

Taking the Practice EOC Exam

Welcome to the instructions page for the EOC online practice test. Please use the menu on the upper-left to access different parts of the instructions, or click the link below to download them in the form of a pdf.

Instructions.pdf

Accessing the Test

Where and how to take the practice EOC exam.

In order to access the test, please go to the main page of this website.

Once there, the test can be accessed either by pressing the large "Begin Practice Test" button on the homepage, or by using the menu on the upper-left to get to the "Resources" page and selecting "Begin Test."

It is important to note that the test is best and most easily taken using any modern web browser on a computer, as opposed to a phone or tablet device.

Signing In

How to sign in and begin taking the test.

Once you have chosen that you would like to take a test, you will be prompted to sign in. There are two very different options available for signing in, as a user or as a guest, both of which are discussed here. In general, signing in as a guest is faster, but provides fewer features than signing in as a user.

The screenshot shows the 'Please Sign In' page of the Florida Standards Assessments system. The page has a header with the 'Florida Standards Assessments' logo and a red banner for 'Student Practice Test'. The main content area is titled 'Please Sign In' and contains two sections: 'User' and 'Guest Session'. The 'User' section has fields for 'First Name' and 'Username', both with 'GUEST' as the placeholder text. The 'Guest Session' section has a 'Session ID' field with 'GUEST' as the placeholder text. A 'Sign In' button is located at the bottom right of the 'Guest Session' section. Annotations in orange text and boxes highlight specific features: 'Secure sign-in for potential result storage' points to the 'User' section; 'Capability to sign in as a user or as a guest' points to the 'First Name' and 'Username' fields; 'Session ID for revisiting test session later' points to the 'Session ID' field; and 'Sign-in instruction/information' points to a text box on the right that explains the purpose of the training tests and provides instructions for signing in as a guest.

Secure sign-in for potential result storage

Capability to sign in as a user or as a guest

Session ID for revisiting test session later

Sign-in instruction/information

User Sign In

If you have never signed in as a user before, you must first choose to create a new account. This will allow you to choose a username and password so that you may sign in with them in the future.

If you have already created a username and password, then you can sign in by entering them.

Signing in as a user comes with a number of advantages, as it will allow this website to remember what you have done on it thus far. You will be able to review past exams, and see which practice exams you have already taken, among other things.

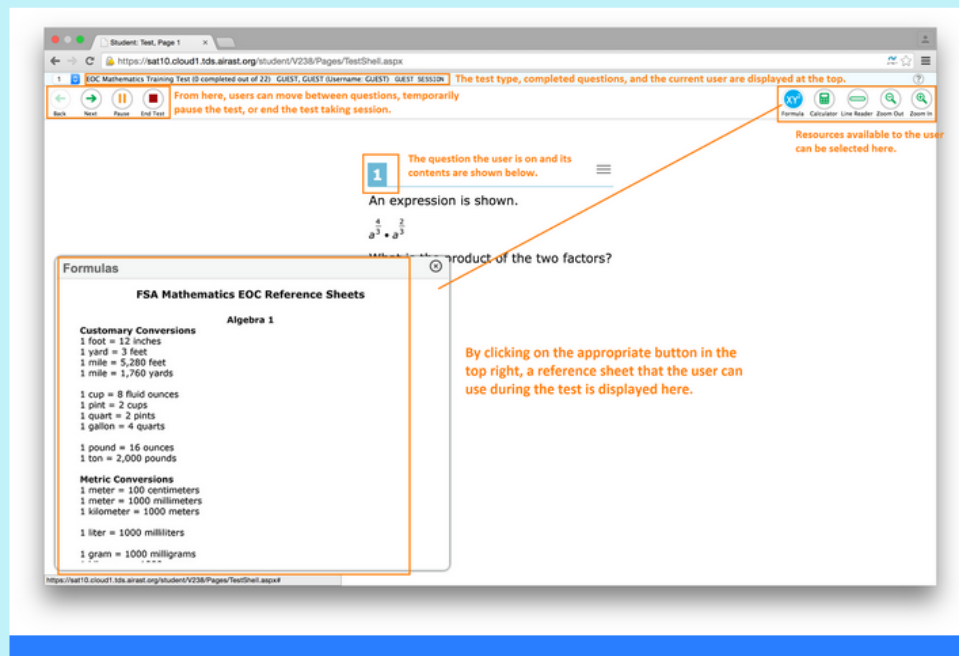

Guest Sign In

If you do not need to have this site remember your work on past exams or would just like to sign in quickly, you can sign in as a guest. To do this, please select "Guest Sign In," and you will be able to take exams without creating an account.

Test Features

How to use the features provided by this test-taking site.

This online practice test provides a number of different tools while taking the test in order to provide students with everything they will be able to use on an actual EOC exam.

Navigation

On the top left of the test screen, you will find a number of different buttons for navigating through the exam:

- The "Back" and "Next" buttons allow you to move forwards and backwards among questions.
- The "Pause" button allows you to temporarily pause the test and return to it later.
- The "End Test" button will permanently end the current test you are taking.

Tools

On the top right of the test screen, you will find a number of different tools to use on the test:

- The "Formula" button brings up an approved formula sheet you can view while taking the exam.
- The "Calculator" button will bring up a basic calculator which can be used during the exam.
- The "Line Reader" button will highlight each line of the question in order.
- The "Zoom In" and "Zoom Out" buttons will zoom in and zoom out of the page when pressed.

Question Types

How to answer the different types of questions you might see on an exam.

There are five main types of questions you may be asked on the algebra EOC exam:

-Multiple choice questions provide a number of possible answers, and you must select the correct one.

-Fill in the blank questions require you to solve a problem on your own, and put the correct answer in the text box.

-Drag and drop questions provide an incomplete statement and a word bank. Each element in the word bank must be dragged to its correct place in the statement.

-Shading questions require you to select the correct area to shade in based on the question.

-Graphing questions require you to create points, lines, or curves correctly on a provided graph.